This exciting and vibrant exhibition brings together two women with a passion for colour. It is a sharing of their own experiences and will stimulate the viewer into considering their own response to the images.

Both women paint from their emotions, and reflect to the viewer how exciting and fulfilling the inner world can be.

While Tina’s works invite interpretation from the viewer, Linda’s works have a direct link to a particular situation from either her own or someone else’s experience.

These two women are highly motivated and prolific painters, with a positive and happy outlook on life, which is communicated through their paintings.
